

s television's queen of the outdoors, Julia has laced up her walking boots afresh and is now set to stride confidently into living rooms for a brand new series. Once again Julia and her film crew have been off the beaten track, discovering some of Britain's most breath-taking scenery. The result: Best Walks with a View is currently airing at 8pm on Friday nights on ITV.

The series has a great concept too – Julia has called on her years of experience to select family friendly treks that can easily be done in a day. You can tune in as in her own inimitable style Julia brings each walk to life while you watch from your sofa, then plan your own escape to experience the walk for yourself as part of your own holiday plans a little later.

THE PERFECT FOOD LOVER'S TWIST!

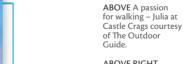

Each programme features walks under ten miles, taking the viewer up and down dales, fellsides and mountains, along valleys and coastal paths, across rivers and streams, and through fields and woodland. Each ends with a perfect pub lunch or picnic treat, an insightful twist which will bring delight to many planning to follow in her footsteps and wanting to keep all

If you've missed any of the episodes don't panic, although they're well worth catching on ITV Catch Up as they really do make you feel like pulling your walking boots on! A new Unforgettable Walks – Best Walks With A View hardback book has just been published priced at £16.99 tying in with the series and episodes.

Both a practical guide and a love letter to walking and walkers, this book explores who walkers are and how walking across a landscape brings its people together, and show even those who don't live in the countryside are never more than a train ride away from stunning natural beauty. Drawing on the great British nature writing tradition and accompanied with maps and illustrations, this beautiful book will fit as well on a bookshelf as in a rucksack.

Reflecting the programme episodes each of the walks featured in the book is under 10 miles. Collectively they cover the whole range of Britain's diverse and beautiful landscapes, from the Jurassic coast of Dorset and the rich history of the South Downs to the breathtaking home-grown scenery of the Peak District and the Yorkshire Dales
